What Is Corrugated Cardboard?

Corrugated cardboard can be identified by its multi-layer construction. The wavy “corrugated” middle layer is what gives the cardboard its strength.

Not all cardboard containers are recyclable.

Waxed cardboard is NOT RECYCLABLE and should be discarded into the trash.

Paper board (the material used in cereal boxes) is NOT RECYCLABLE. Besides not having the wavy “corrugated” middle layer, paper board is usually grayish in color when you tear it and look at the inner layer. Paper board is considered a lesser quality paper and is not accepted for recycling in Teton County.

Separate packing contents, such as bubble wrap, packing pillows and styrofoam. Tape, labels, and staples are okay.

No garbage. Please read signs carefully and refrain from disposing of food waste or garbage in dumpsters labeled “Cardboard Only.” Thank you!

Why Recycle Corrugated Cardboard?

Cardboard is the single largest component of municipal solid waste around the world.

Last year, Teton County recycled 3.25 million pounds of corrugated cardboard saving 1,785 barrels of oil, over 630 thousand kilowatt hours of energy and 14,607 cubic yards of landfill space.

Teton County Integrated Solid Waste and Recycling sends the cardboard we collect to a mill where it is turned directly back into cardboard boxes. Corrugated cardboard fibers can be recycled an average of seven times before they become too short and are filtered out as sludge during the pulping process.

The average business in Teton County generates 11,400 pounds of corrugated cardboard a year! Currently there are over 250 businesses and homeowner’s associations utilizing the cardboard pick-up service. Keep in mind that since recycling cardboard reduces the volume of material you throw away, recycling cardboard may save you money.

What We Accept

Corrugated cardboard and brown paper only

Please Do NOT Include

- Garbage
- Packing Materials (Peanuts, Bubble Wrap, Freezer Wrap, Styrofoam, etc.)
- Paper Board (Cereal Boxes, Shoe Boxes, FedEx Envelopes, Six-Pack holders, Egg Cartons, etc.)
- Corrugated Wax Boxes (Commercial Frozen Food Containers, Tomato/Lettuce Boxes)

NO FOOD WASTE OR GARBAGE

Contamination of cardboard bins limits our ability to recover valuable material for recycling and places an unnecessary burden on our staff. We appreciate your efforts to educate yourself and all of your staff about proper corrugated cardboard recycling. Thank you!
